Refuah Schlemah

May the One who was a source of blessing for our ancestors bring blessings of healing upon Gisela Friedlaender and Sue Prohofsky.

And may G d hear our prayers and grant a speedy and complete recovery to all those who are ill.

THANK YOU

Thanks to Sam Harris for his weekly notifications of Shabbat schedules.

Thanks to Sam Harris, Ephraim Fishbach, and Scotty Rumpza for leading Shabbat services.

The Jewish Connection Book Group

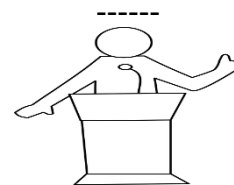

The Jewish Connection Book Group will meet on Wednesday, November 15, 2:30 p.m. at the home of Kathy Busch, 4121 Black Forest Lane, West Lafayette.

This month's selection is Sinners and the Sea: The Untold Story of Noah's Wife, by Rebecca Kanner. The author imagines an entire new side of the Noah story. In the tradition of biblical fiction like The Red Tent and Rashi's Daughters, the framework is made up of the events told in the Bible, however the creative author invents additions and embellishments to fill in the missing information.

As always, it is not necessary to have read this book. Everyone is welcome for this lively and friendly gathering.

For additional information, please contact Kathy Busch at 583-2247 or Rose Haberer at 463-2772.

How Portugal's Jews Saved Themselves with a Sausage

The Alheira is a beautiful thing. This type of Portuguese sausage is known for garlic and breadcrumbs, and is so beloved in Portugal that it was voted one of the nation's seven gastronomic wonders in a 2011 vote. Oh, and it was invented by Jews to save their lives.

In the mid-1500s, at the peak of the Spanish Inquisition, Portugal's Jews went to great lengths to hide their religion, and in a mountain town in northern Portugal called Mirandela, this wasn't easy.

So the Jews did what they always do: they turned to food. Mirandela's Jews invented a new sausage, the Alheira de Mirandela, which they made with kosher chicken and bread and promptly hung from their rafters. Suspicion diverted.

These days, the Alheira is no longer associated with the Jews who invented it; you can find it made with all kinds of treif. A 2008 study found that 19.8% of Portuguese people have Jewish ancestry, though, and in 2013 Portugal became the second country after Israel with a Jewish right of return.
